How does Medicare Part D work?

Medicare Part D covers the cost of most prescription medications you get at the pharmacy or through mail order. Depending on your plan, you may pay premiums, deductibles, and co-insurance or co-payments ("co-pays"). Medicare Part D covers the rest. Your share of the costs, if any, will depend on the plan you choose, your income, and where you live.[1-3]

What is the Extra Help program?

The Extra Help program offers qualifying people with Medicare Part D more support in paying for their Part D insurance and medication costs.[4]

How can the Extra Help program help me?

People who qualify for Extra Help in 2027 may pay:

- No deductibles[4,5]
- No more than $14.40 for other covered medication[6]
- No more than $5.80 for generic medication[6]

In 2027, people who qualify for Extra Help receive the full subsidy, helping lower Medicare Part D prescription drug costs.[7]

Extra Help Enrollment:

14.8 MILLION TOTAL*[7]

FULL SUBSIDY
5.2 MILLION PEOPLE

DUAL ELIGIBLE
9.6 MILLION PEOPLE

2027 intermediate estimates.*

Most people with Medicare can only switch plans at certain times of the year. However, if you have Medicaid or are enrolled in Extra Help, you may be able to change your drug coverage plan once per month. If you make a change, it generally takes effect on the first day of the following month.[6]

Do I qualify?†

- If you're single: your annual income must be less than $23,940 and your financial resources (such as bank account and stocks) must be less than $18,090[6]
- If you're married and living with a spouse and no other dependents: your annual income must be less than $32,460 and your financial resources must be less than $36,100[6]

Resources may include: money in checking or savings accounts, stocks, bonds, mutual funds, and Individual Retirement Accounts (IRAs).[6]

Resources would not include your: home, vehicles, personal possessions, property you need for self support, life insurance, burial plot and up to $1,500 in burial expenses, back payments from Social Security or Supplemental Security Income (SSI),‡ housing assistance,‡ and certain other assets.[6,8]

- You automatically qualify for Extra Help if you[6]:
  - Dual eligible in Medicare and Medicaid, or
  - A member of a Medicare Savings Program (Qualified Medicare Beneficiary, Specified Low-Income Medicare Beneficiary, or Qualifying Individual), or
  - Receiving Supplemental Security Income: benefits paid to adults 65 and older with limited income and resources who meet the financial limits

If you are eligible, you can start saving as soon as you enroll in a Part D plan.[5] See the back cover for how you can apply today.
